.Q: How to import data from Excel to SQL Server with multiple table rows, Hi am working on a app that read data from an Excel and connect to SQL Server database to fetch data and also to be inserted I have written a function that takes an Excel as input but am not able to connect to SQL Server and retrieve data from multiple records. Below is my function that gets data from Excel and need to insert in SQL Server.

public partial class Form1 : Form {
    public void btnSend_Click(object sender, EventArgs e) { string connectionString;
        string conn = "Data
            Source=UNIPPRIMARY-07;Initial Catalog=sUdioCT;Persist Security Info=True;User ID=sa;Password="; using (OleDbConnection cn = new OleDbConnection(conn)) { string query =
            "SELECT * FROM [Sheet1$] WHERE [Col1]
            = '" + txtCol.Text + "' AND [Col2] = '" +

```
txtCol.Text + """; using (OleDbDataAdapter da = new OleDbDataAdapter(query, cn)) { DataTable dt = new DataTable(); da.Fill(dt); foreach (DataRow row in dt.Rows) { foreach (DataColumn col in dt.Columns) 648931e174

This is the Best Laptop for Photography and Video Editing in 2017 My First Experience With A Focusrite Firefly The Best Thing About These Affordable Treadmills Is They Don't Die Share On: CPR 602: Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation The Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) reports that over 1.4 million American men and more than 1 million American women die from heart attacks every year. So, it is not a big surprise to know that over 1.6 million patients die from acute heart attacks every year. With the help of a heart attack, some patients can have various problems including cardiac arrest, and even die. Most of the time, a heart attack won't happen spontaneously. This is because usually, it affects the heart. The most common problem with heart attacks is an arrhythmia. It can also affect the brain and other organs. An arrhythmia is a condition wherein the heart doesn't beat normally. When the heart doesn't beat properly, it could lead to a stroke and some other serious complications. In a heart attack, the blood supply to the heart is affected. As the blood supply is hampered, the heart can't pump it out. This is when it could stop or slow down. An arrhythmia can also occur in the heart and make it stop. It can also make it slow down or halt. In a heart attack, there are two types of arrhythmias which doctors will be familiar with. An ST-elevation, or ST-segment elevation is a common type of arrhythmia, or electrical disturbance, that happens in the heart. This happens when a type of enzyme known as creatine kinase (CK) leaks out of the muscle. CK helps the body to break down the buildup of waste products. An ST-elevation is an indicator of a heart attack. It's likely that, if you have an ST-elevation, your doctor will tell you to get to the ER right away. There, you will get blood tests and a hospital cath, which is a type of x-ray done on the heart. On the hospital cath, doctors will be able to tell you why your heart is abnormal.

Sometimes, doctors
